of the Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington. Bichard Watson Gilder and Prof. Charles Sprague Smith, and in speaking of these men Mr. Carnegie said: "The society is to have traditions. One of them will be that the best and highest examples of human nature of New York city will be found as its members because its the bride's grandfather as a memorial to shich men may labor and achieve."

Bishop Villard F. Mallaleu of Auburndale, Mass., talked about the church and the peace movement. He said that England and the United States had appropriated this year for army and navy $73.00.000 and the other nations $1.200.000.000.

What an anomaly! What an absurdity exclaimed the Bishop. "All this by so-called Christian nations in the work of preparing for killing their fellow men. I wish in God's name they would let me fix the tariff. I'd out a hundred million out of the war appropriations and really fix the tariff. Two things were to be accomplished at the third Hague conference, said he "One was to arrange a real and contemporaneous disammanent down to the necessities of police duty and maintent to abide.
